ABOUT COOP DANMARK A/S

Coop is the largest retail business in Denmark, operating the chains Kvickly, SuperBrugsen, Dagli' Brugsen and coop.dk as well as subsidiaries Fakta A/S and Irma A/S.

In cooperation with the independent co-operative societies, Coop has an annual turnover of approximately 50 billion and 35,000 employees.

Coop, FDB at the time, was founded in 1896 as a cooperation between the numerous Danish co-operative societies. Up through the 19th century, FDB grew to become one of Denmark's largest companies in the production of groceries and wholesale to cooperatives. In the 1970s, FDB began focusing more on retail and by the end of the 1980s, they became a retail business. In 2002 they formed Coop Norden in cooperation with the other Nordic co-operative societies (FDB owning 38% of the business) to be stronger in the international competition. The Danish shops were then managed by the subsidiary Coop Danmark A/S. From 2008, the Danish shops in Coop Danmark were back on Danish hands with FDB as sole proprietor. Today, Coop Denmark one of Denmark's largest companies by turnover and number of jobs.
