Introduction to ProMark's integration universe

Integrations are the way forward when companies want a more modern, flexible and efficient support of their business processes.

By connecting the various IT systems so data and processes can flow easily and seamlessly across systems, companies can create a more coherent infrastructure which streamlines your work processes and provides valuable real-time data.

ProMark can be integrated with other business systems in a number of different ways, from the very simple to the most modern and advanced. But what exactly are the differences between the individual methods? Get an overview of the options and how to choose the method that best suits a company's needs and IT architecture.

ISAE 3000 type 2 report

As a data processor, we take data protection very seriously and every year, our processes and internal controls are reviewed and validated by the state-authorized public accounting firm, PwC.

The report for 2020 is now ready and documents that we have processes and controls in place to meet the requirements of the GDPR.

CSR policy in place

As a company, we strive to reduce our negative impact on the environment and climate and have therefore introduced a series of initiatives, both internally and in relation to our customers and suppliers.

Similarly, as part of our sustainability policy, we have joined the UN Global Compact and Global Compact Network Denmark.
