

5 good reasons to migrate to the cloud now

Cloud is seriously on the agenda in more and more companies. Many of them are in a situation where the existing IT setup is outdated and difficult to scale, secure and integrate to the modern cloud solutions.

Some even experience that is both time-consuming and expensive to maintain the solution due to a cumbersome internal support and change process – without a clear agreement on who does what and when.

Therefore, many companies are looking into how they can simplify and modernise the management of their business-critical systems and decide to move to the cloud.

But what are the benefits of cloud solutions? Why should companies migrate to the cloud? What is the value for the company?
